Company Description

Gideon Taylor is a growing consulting company with a vision of revolutionizing the business processes of our clients using our custom electronic forms solutions, GT eForms™ for PeopleSoft and ePAF™. Based in beautiful Orem, Utah, Gideon Taylor is customer focused and results driven, and gives top priority to hiring and retaining bright, motivated, values-driven people to carry the vision of our firm to top-tier clients. We expect strong growth based on the interest shown in our solutions, and anticipate increasing opportunities for those who join our team. Learn more at www.gideontaylor.com.

Responsibilities

This consultant's primary responsibility is to implement GT eForms™-based solutions for clients. GT eForms™ is a native PeopleTools bolt-on toolset, relying heavily on PS Workflow, PeopleCode, Component Interface, Integration Broker, Application Classes and Portal functionality. These projects require the ability to provide technical, functional and strategic consulting.

This consultant will:

- Analyze the client's business processes and collaborate with the client to design custom electronic forms solutions, developed in PeopleTools using GT eForms™, to replace paper-based or other less efficient data collection and approval processes.
- Develop, test and deploy the designed application, working with functional experts, client technical resources, process owners and project stakeholders. Contributions to project planning and management may also be expected.
- Train client technical resources to develop additional GT eForms™-based electronic form applications.

Our firm also specializes in custom integration solutions, using Web Services technology and PS Integration Broker, and custom application design using the PeopleTools platform. This consultant will also work in these areas as requested by our clients.

Our clients expect us to increase the value of their PeopleSoft ownership through creativity, innovation, unparalleled expertise with their software and the ability to persuasively communicate the right vision to the right people in their organization. Our clients are willing to risk radical changes in the way they do business if they trust the vision this consultant presents.

This position will be challenging, rewarding, fun, and appropriately compensated.

Required Skills

- Confidence, creativity, persuasive written and verbal communications skills, and a relentless dedication to our client's success.
- Deep technical and functional experience with PeopleSoft applications. A successful candidate has the technical skills to build a custom application in PeopleTools 8.4x from the ground up, including strong SQL and PeopleCode skills.
- Ability to think critically and creatively, while following our design methodologies and philosophies.
- A successful candidate will recognize what they need to know to make a project successful, and acquire that knowledge quickly. He/she need not know everything, but should be able to know anything by early next week.
- A successful candidate will meet the definition of a consultant as "one who consults," not just "a contract worker."
